Executive summary

The course "Workers Safety Training – Low Risk" is designed to provide workers with solid preparation on safety practices in low-risk work environments. The training features a balanced combination of theoretical and practical modules, emphasizing current regulations according to Legislative Decree 81/2008 and the State-Regions Agreement of April 17, 2025. Over a total of 8 hours—4 hours general training and 4 hours specific—the participants will learn basic prevention principles, proper equipment use, emergency management, and daily safety procedures tailored to low-risk settings. The educational path includes practical examples from typical workplaces such as offices, call centers, retail, and remote work, helping participants understand and apply safety rules effectively. The teaching methodology encourages active and interactive learning, concluding with a final assessment to ensure the acquisition of the required skills. This course suits workers in various sectors exposed to low risks and provides a fundamental base to maintain safety and health in the workplace.
